Collaborations with Gadjah Mada University, Yogyakarta, Indonesia

Since February 1996, I have been directly involved with colleagues in the Faculty of Psychology and Faculty of Medicine at Gadjah Mada University. I have spent a minimum of two months at UGM every year since 1996, have collaborated with staff members on research projects, have developed funding to support much of this research, and have helped develop funding to support numerous UGM faculty members to spend between one and nine months as fellows at Harvard Medical School. My primary focus has been on developing capacity for basic research and health services research related to strengthening mental health services. Secondary focus has been on developing collaboration in programs on bioethics. I have worked most closely with the Faculty of Psychology and the Faculty of Medicine, particularly the Department of Psychiatry and the Center for Humanities and Bioethics.

Some activities have included the following:

1996 – Fulbright senior lecturer/researcher at UGM (6 months)

1997 – researcher at UGM, supported by fund from the U.S. National Science Foundation (6 months)

1996-2002 – was Coordinator (with Prof Mary-Jo Good) of the Freeman Fellowship program that hosted UGM faculty members for 6-9 months at Harvard Medical School. Fellows included Yati Soenarto, Soenarto Sastrowijoto, Tonny Sadjiman, Subandi, Tridjoko Hadianto, Carla Marchira, Mahar Agusno, Laksono Trisnatoro

2000 – supported Bioethics 2000, the first international meeting on bioethics at UGM, with funding from the Freeman Fellowship Program

1996-2006 – supported collaborative research projects on early psychosis

2005-2015 – supported collaborative projects with UGM, Syah Kuala University, IOM, and others in post-tsunami/post-conflict mental health programs in Aceh

2011-2014 – Directed (with Prof Mary-Jo Good) USAID program on building mental health capacity. UGM was primary partner, with Prof Subandi and Dr Carla Marchira as Co-Directors, and Syah Kuala University as secondary collaborator. Used to support action research projects, linking universities with the Ministry of Health, in Yogyakarta and Aceh. Supported short-term fellowships for approximately 10 staff from Psychology and Psychiatry at UGM and Faculty of Medicine Syah Kuala University, at the Dept of Global Health and Social Medicine, Harvard Medical School

2015-2020 Director (with Prof Mary-Jo Good) of Program to Build Capacity in Mental Health Services in Yogyakarta, with funding from Harvard-Dubai Center for Global Health Delivery
